

FOOD AND NUTRITIONAL SECURITY AND CLIMATE CHANGE IN THE SAHEL (SANC2S)

Development and Peace
CARITAS CANADA

CONTEXT

The Food and nutritional security and climate change in the Sahel project (designated by the French acronym SANC2S) addresses the issue of food insecurity, which is being exacerbated across the central Sahel by political instability, armed conflict, climate change and inflation.

In Burkina Faso, Mali and Niger, millions are affected by a worrying decline in food security.

OBJECTIVES

The SANC2S project aims to improve food and nutritional security, especially among rural women and youths involved in agriculture and livestock farming.

To this end, the project helps:

- Improve the sustainable management of natural resources in communities affected by climate change.
- Increase the profitability of economic activities carried out by agricultural producers.
- Promote inclusive governance by ensuring that gender equality and the interests of vulnerable groups are considered in the formulation of food security policy.

MAJOR ACTIVITIES

Global Affairs Canada funding allows the SANC2S project to:

- Support initiatives for inclusive and coordinated natural resource management.
- Provide technical and financial support to community-based climate change adaptation initiatives.
- Support the production, diversification and processing of local food products through vocational training and infrastructure development.
- Facilitate access to markets through training, the provision of agricultural services and the organization of trade events.
- Build participants' capacity to defend their interests through targeted advocacy on food policies.
